Next Meeting: Tim Tien

How to Add Poetic Presence to A Still-Life

Learn how Tim Tien adds poetic presence to a still-life. Tim will demonstrate how he arranges different colors next to one another in order to achieve a harmonious whole.

Tim studied the art of oil painting intensively for many years with renowned artists that can be traced back to the lineage of the old masters and the Russian impressionists.

Join award-winning artist, Tim Tien, as he shares his joy of painting a poetic still-life in oil.

Quick Tip: How To Bring the Luster Back

"Oiling out" is recommended for dull areas of a completed oil painting, how is this done?

Oiling out is the application of an oil medium to a painting which has sunk (become dull), or lost its oil to the layer underneath. The most common causes for this are an over-absorbent, cheap ground or the use of too much solvent and insufficient or no medium. When the color is dry, Artists' Painting Medium should be sparingly rubbed into any sunken areas with a clean cloth.

Wipe off any residue and leave to dry for a day or two. If smaller, dull areas remain, repeat the process until the painting has regained an even sheen. Varnishes should not be used for the purpose of recovering the luster of a dead painting. For a faster drying oiling out medium, use Thickened Linseed Oil diluted with 50% mineral spirits.

President's Message

My thanks to all our members for making 2011 a big year for the Glendale Art Association. 2012 promises to be even better.

We are adding another major exhibition to our calendar, The Spring Salon, to be held in May. Our calendars for paint-outs and demonstrators are firming up—and we would like to hear from you with suggestions in these areas. GAA has a terrific team making club events happen, but we need a few more helpers to spread the work around. Hint, hint.....

I'll see you at our monthly meeting on Wednesday, January 11th at the Brand Art Center. We'll be seeing Tim Tien in action demonstrating his impressive painting technique. He is a wonderful painter, a sought-after teacher, and a prize winner in many competitions. Bring along a painting for the mini show—it is a good way to let us know what you are up to and to get some feedback on your work.

—Dick Heimbold

We have a great lineup of paint outs planned for 2012. If you haven't been to one of our twice-monthly paint outs, you're missing a wonderful experience. Beginner or advanced — all are welcome. See page 3 for more information.

Deukmejian Park in La Crescenta, is tucked away in the beautiful foothills of the San Gabriel Mountains. There are many great vistas for painting plein air, with trails providing spectacular views of the Crescenta Valley and the Los Angeles basin.

BMAI - MONTROSE

Due to the destructive windstorms, we were not able to paint at Descanso Gardens, as planned. BMAI kindly accommodated our group and let us select from hundreds of their still life props. Afterwards we enjoyed lunch at a local restaurant.

A PASSION FOR GOUACHE

Janet Olenik, our December demonstrator, has a passion for painting in gouache. Her passion is contagious and so is her sense of humor. From the moment she started to speak, Janet had us laughing. First she confessed "I'm ADDICTED to art supplies!" Then she went on to show us how she kept her many brushes neatly organized in a cedar cigar box.

Janet demonstrated how to paint moons and planets in white gouache on black paper. She generously brought along ample supplies for members and guests to participate in an impromptu hands-on workshop.
